

The Woodhull Study Revisited: Nurses' Representation in Health News Media

SPEAKERS

RESEARCH TEAM

DIANA J. MASON, PhD, RN, FAAN,

is principal investigator of The Woodhull Study Revisited and a senior policy service professor for the Center for Health Policy and Media Engagement at George Washington University School of Nursing; and professor emerita at Hunter College, City University of New York, where she co-founded and co-directed the Center for Health, Media and Policy. She is a past president of the American Academy of Nursing, former editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Nursing, and producer and moderator of a community radio program on health care issues since 1985. She is the lead editor of the award-winning book, Policy and Politics in Nursing and Health Care, and blogs on policy for HealthCetera and JAMA News Forum.

✉ djmasonrn@gwu.edu | @djmasonrn

LAURA NIXON, MPH,

is a senior media researcher at Berkeley Media Studies Group, where she analyzes media coverage of public health issues. Her research has included analyses of news coverage about sugary drink taxes, violence prevention, tobacco control and related topics. Her research has appeared in the American Journal of Public Health, Critical Public Health and the American Journal of Industrial Medicine, among other publications. She holds a bachelor's degree in sociology from Pomona College and a master's degree in public health from U.C. Berkeley.

✉ nixon@bmsg.org | @bmsg

KRISTI WESTPHALN, PhD, RN, CPNP-PC,

is a pediatric nurse practitioner and senior fellow for the Center for Health Policy and Media Engagement at the George Washington University School of Nursing. Based in San Diego, she has 15 years of pediatric expertise in emergency care, primary care and Child abuse prevention. She often writes blogs and produces podcasts for HealthCetera. She earned her PhD in nursing from the University of San Diego. Dr. Westphaln will continue her research in pediatric health care services in June 2018 as a postdoctoral fellow with the Center for Child Health and Policy at Case Western Reserve University.

✉ k\_westphaln@yahoo.com | @k\_westphaln

BARBARA GLICKSTEIN, MPH, MS, RN,

is co-investigator on The Woodhull Study Revisited and Director of Communications and Media Projects for the Center for Health Policy and Media Engagement at George Washington University School of Nursing. Glickstein co-produces and hosts HealthCetera, a podcast that provides evidence-based news, analysis and commentary where diverse, front-line experts discuss the latest real-world effects of health care and health policy. She is Nursing Consultant and Advisor at Carolyn Jones Productions, producer of the feature-length documentaries The American Nurse and Defining Hope. She has trained national leaders in health care on how to be a media maker to advance the health of the public and public policy.

✉ bglickstein@gwu.edu | @bglickstein

KIMBERLY D. ACQUAVIVA, PhD, MSW, CSE,

is a tenured professor at the George Washington University School of Nursing. Her scholarly work focuses on LGBTQ aging and end-of-life issues, and her clinical work has been with patients and families facing life-limiting illnesses in both hospital and hospice settings. Her book, LGBTQ-Inclusive Hospice & Palliative Care: A Practical Guide to Transforming Professional Practice, was published by Harrington Park Press and distributed by Columbia University Press. She is also the host of em dash podcast, a show that explores the lived experiences of patients and health care professionals in the health care arena.

✉ acqua@gwu.edu | @kimacquaviva

REACTION PANEL

CRISTAL WILLIAMS CHANCELLOR, BS,

is director of communications for the Women's Media Center where manages the production of reports such as annual Women's Media Center Status of Women in the U.S. Media and the most recent, "Status of Women of Color in the U.S. News Media 2018." She is the former senior producer for the syndicated radio show, "Women's Media Center Live with Robin Morgan." Chancellor is an award-winning journalist and was part of the team at the Akron Beacon Journal that won the 1994 Pulitzer Prize Gold Medal for Meritorious Public Service for a yearlong series focusing on race relations in Akron, Ohio. Previously, Chancellor spent nearly 12 years at the American Society of News Editors, a premier nonprofit leadership organization for the nation's top daily editors, including those from The New York Times and The Washington Post.

✉ Cristal@womensmediacenter.com | @CWChancellorWMC

YANICK RICE LAMB, MBA,

is chair of the Department of Media, Journalism and Film at Howard University and a doctoral candidate in medical sociology. She is also co-founder of the health website FierceforBlackWomen.com.

Previously, she was an editor at The New York Times and The Atlanta Constitution; senior editor for health at Child magazine; editor-at-large at Essence, overseeing health features; and founding editor of BET Weekend. As a health performance fellow for the Association of Health Care Journalists she wrote "Stuck in the Hospital" on long-term care of the uninsured and won an National Association of Black Journalists Salute to Excellence Award for "Dealing With Dementia." Her book projects include "Born to Win: The Authorized Biography of Althea Gibson" and "Health and Healing for African Americans".

✉ ylamb@howard.edu | @rylamb

IVAN ORANSKY, MD,

is a distinguished Writer in Residence at New York University's Arthur Carter Journalism Institute, and co-founder of Retraction Watch. He previously was global editorial director of MedPage Today, executive editor of Reuters Health, and held editorial positions at Scientific American and The Scientist. He is the recipient of the 2015 John P. McGovern Award for excellence in biomedical communication from the American Medical Writers Association and has written for numerous publications, including Nature, The New Republic, and The New York Times. Oransky is a clinical assistant professor at the New York University School of Medicine and serves as president of the Association of Health Care Journalists.

✉ ivan@retractionwatch.com | @ivanoransky

For more information, visit go.gwu.edu/woodhull.