

Treaties can be bilateral

Treaties do not regulate only the relationships between states. They can also regulate international commercial transactions. Examples include the Convention o is generally the one with the closest connection to the contract and its performance.

Consider the case of Mr. Pich, who is a black pepper producer in Poipet.
Pich

goods, or whether the parties can legally do what they propose to do with the subject matter of a contract. Examples include customs tariffs, import and export controls, tax laws, and mixing and purchasing requirements, such as rules as to how much local content is required in the production of goods.

2.3d International Law

the

INTERNATIONAL CONTRACT LAW

any disputes by using a choice of forum clause, as explained in Chapter 2

CHAPTER FOUR

buyer is located in Cambodia, and the seller in Japan. Delivery of the goods

INTERNATIONAL CONTRACT LAW

INTERNATIONAL CONTRACT LAW

In Cambodia, a contract of carriage from a Cambodian seller's place of business to a Cambodian port or from a Cambodian port to a Cambodian

As discussed in Chapter 4 ("Letters of Credit and Other Methods of Payment"), the basic shipping document is the bill of lading

The 1968 Hague-

5.3a Introduction to the INCOTERMS

that the new revision of the INCOTERMS, INCOTERMS 2000, will become effective in the year 2000. Although the basic terms will remain the same as in the 1990 INCOTERMS, and although this text focuses on the 1990 terms

FOB: FOB

INTERNATIONAL CONTRACT LAW

Th

